

GREEK NUMISMATICS TASTER WEBINAR FOR POSTGRADUATE STUDENTS

Coins are an essential primary source of evidence for all students of the ancient world, historians, archaeologists and literary scholars alike, but specialist teaching in numismatics is not always available in universities. This free introductory seminar aims to introduce students to the range of questions that archaeologists and historians can ask of coins, and to provide an overview of some of the analytical techniques used in the study of numismatics.

‘What can Greek coinage tell us about ancient societies?
The wonderful world of numismatics’

- Dr Clare Rowan (Associate Professor, University of Warwick)

‘A virtual tour of the British School at Athens coin collections’

- Dr Michael Loy (Assistant Director, British School at Athens)

Tuesday 31 May 2022
2pm - 3:30pm (UK time, BST)

Please sign up for this free Zoom webinar via the British School at Athens website

The next in-person BSA Postgraduate Training Course in Greek Numismatics will take place in Spring 2023.

An example course itinerary, further information, and an application form will be available on the BSA web site in due course (www.bsa.ac.uk).